ARMED BLACKS FORCE SHERIFF TO CALL POSSE

ARKANSAS THREATENED WITH ANOTHER RACE CLASH OVER
ACTION OF NEGROES

Hog Thief Arrested & Rescued By His Fellows In Country
Near Arkansas River

Dumas, Ark., Jan. 21. (P)—A big posse is being formed here tonight and early tomorrow morning will take the field in search of armed negroes, who this afternoon forced Deputy Sheriff J. H. Breedlove to surrender a negro prisoner at a negro settlement eight miles east of Dumas. It is believed that the negroes are well armed and organized and a bitter fight is feared. Immediately after the affair this afternoon telephone wires between Dumas and the settlement where the trouble occurred were cut, supposedly by negroes.

Deputy Sheriff Breedlove and two white men who accompanied him escaped uninjured after exchanging a volley of shots with the attacking negroes. Sheriff George Lacy at Arkansas City immediately ordered deputies from all parts of Desha county to assemble here as rapidly as possible. The sheriff will arrive during the night to assume command of the big posse. Governor Brough has been asked to send troops here if the trouble assumes formidable proportions.

Trouble Over Stealing Hogs
The trouble started this afternoon when white employees of a sawmill attempted to capture "Doc" Haynes, negro, who had been charged with stealing and killing hogs on a plantation east of the city. Haynes escaped and returned to the sawmill carrying a rifle. None of the sawmill men were armed and Haynes drove them into the woods. Officers here were notified and Deputy Breedlove, with two white men, arrested Haynes at the negro settlement near the sawmill.

Breedlove said that as he started to leave with the prisoner eight or ten negroes, all armed, emerged from their houses and ordered him to release Haynes. When he refused the negroes opened fire. Haynes ran and escaped. Breedlove, who had but three rounds of ammunition in his rifle, covered the retreat of his two companions who were armed only with revolvers. Breedlove believes that he hit some of the negroes.

It was decided to postpone further action until a larger force could be assembled there.

The section between here and the Arkansas river is populated largely by negroes. The only white people living there are plantation owners and their families and several small sawmill crews. The negro population of the district outnumbered the whites 30 to one.

REGULAR TROOPS FROM CAMP PIKE STARTING FOR SCENE OF TROUBLE

Little Rock, Jan. 21. (P)—A detachment of 120 regular army officers and men from Camp Pike was scheduled to leave Little Rock at 1 o'clock Thursday morning for the scene of the race disturbance at Dumas, Desha county. Authority for sending the troops was secured tonight by Governor Brough from the headquarters of the southern department of the army at Charleston, S. C. Upon arriving at Dumas the troops will take all charge of the situation. They are due to arrive between four and five o'clock tomorrow morning.

Charles Dante, mayor of Dumas, told the governor over the long distance phone that a mass meeting was held there tonight and that the consensus of opinion was that the trouble is merely local and will not spread to other communities.

The governor instructed Mayor Dante to take all possible precautions to prevent violence and to see that ample protection was given the negroes.

The Camp Pike troops will be in charge of Major Prescott with Captain Lewis as staff officer. The detachment will consist of six officers and 122 men from the fourth and seventh infantry and ninth infantry machine gun battalion.

Governor Brough will accompany the troops.

PINE BLUFF SENDS TEN DEPUTY SHERIFFS

Pine Bluff, Jan. 21. (P)—Ten deputy sheriffs left here tonight at 10:45 o'clock for Dumas, 40 miles south of here, in response to a request from residents of that place who fear a negro uprising following the disarming near Dumas today of a deputy sheriff by armed negroes.

Ohio Boy Licked Briton

Paris, Jan. 21. (P)—Johnny Griffith, welterweight, whose home is Akron, Ohio, tonight knocked out "Bill" Glover of London in the third round of a bout held here.

MEXICO WOULD BLOCK TAKING OF TESTIMONY

BY BRANDING AS TRAITORS ALL ITS CITIZENS WHO MAY TALK TO COMMITTEE

Instruction to Consuls to Refuse Vise Passports Is Put Into Official Record.

San Antonio, Jan. 21.—Cognizance was taken by the senate subcommittee investigating the Mexican situation today of the official effort that is being made to prevent the taking of testimony when there was inserted in the record of Mexican consul's instructions from the foreign office. That was followed by a request to Henry Forres, who had just testified, to report to the committee any refusal by a Mexican consul to vize his passport.

A great majority of Americans who have testified do not expect to return to Mexico but there are a few who do. Mexicans have not yet been asked to appear but many have given agents of the committee information regarding conditions in their country and have expressed a willingness to testify although most of them would prefer such protection as an executive hearing might afford them. Only a few of them would risk returning to Mexico at the present time even had they not been made aware of the Carranza government's intention to declare traitors all who testify.

Regarding the Mexican government's attitude toward its own nationals it appeared probable the committee would make no protest but it was indicated any effort to penalize American passport holders would result in representations by the committee to the state department.

Two witnesses before the committee today, E. L. Turner and W. B. Hinckley, testified concerning raids in the lower Rio Grande valley where both were farming in 1915. These raids were those said to have been conducted in accordance with the "plan of San Diego" and concerning which testimony will be heard tomorrow. Only one session was held today.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO RAISE TWELVE MILLION OF INTER-CHURCH FUND

St. Louis, Jan. 21. (P)—Plans for conducting a nation-wide campaign to raise $12,000,000 as its first year's quota for the inter-church world movement were considered today by representatives of the executive committee of the international convention of the Disciples of Christ (the Christian church) in session here.

It was decided to erect a hospital for negroes this year, speakers asserting there were only 10 such institutions in the United States.

CARRANZA SHIPS OUT THOSE HE DON'T LIKE

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 21.—General Louis Callero, recently banished from Mexico by order of President Carranza, reached Tampico under a strong guard January 17, under orders to take the first boat leaving the country. He had intended to come to the United States, but was denied that privilege and therefore will go to Havana, Cuba.

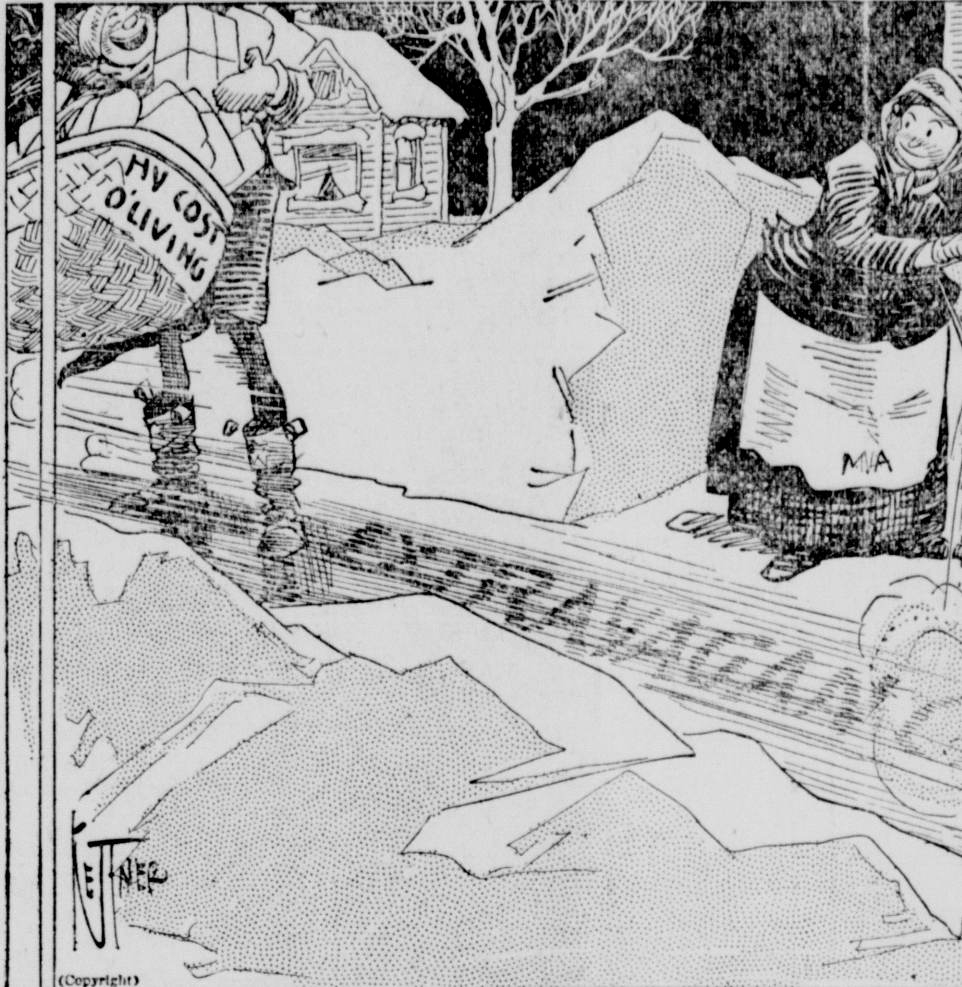

DUBLIN STREET SCENE OF ASSASSINATION OF POLICE COMMISSIONER

Berlin Jan. 21. (P)—Assistant Commissioner of Police Redmond was shot and killed tonight in Harcourt street, one of Dublin's main thoroughfares.

When assailed, Mr. Redmond drew his own pistol and fired two shots in self defense. When he dropped to the ground he still had his automatic in his hand.

Mr. Redmond recently was brought to Dublin from Belfast where he had been a successful constabulary officer, to assist in coordinating the Dublin police and secure increased efficiency in the detective department, in view of the murder of several policemen for which no arrests have been made.

HOPE NOW FOR TREATY CLOUD ROLLING BACK

REPORTED THAT MATERIAL
PROGRESS IS BEING MADE
ON AN AGREEMENT.

Like Other Clouds However It May
Shift Today and Bring Greater Darkness.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Marked improvement in the possibility of composing the senate deadlock over the peace treaty, was reported tonight by leaders participating in the bi-partisan compromise negotiations.

Although the leaders yesterday came close to a break today's meeting, it was stated upon most authoritative information, resulted in material progress toward a compromise.

At no time since the bi-partisan conference began a week ago, one of the active leaders declared, have the prospects been so bright for an agreement between the four republican and five democrat members of the committee. It was added, however, that tomorrow might bring another change.

Possibility of harmonizing differences over the fundamental controversies—Article 10 of the league of nations covenant and the question of equal voting in the league—were the basis of feeling among the conferees tonight that a compromise may yet be reached. The conferees also feel sure that, possibly with some difficulty, any compromise of the bi-partisan conference could agree on would be accepted by the senate.

Another session of the conferees will be accepted by the senate after the republicans and democrats confer in separate councils earlier in the day. A number of the "mild reservation" republicans also plan to confer tomorrow prior to meeting of the joint conference.

TWO MINOR LEAGUE MEETINGS CALLED

Chicago, Jan. 21. (P)—President Taft and the Western and Three Eye Leagues tonight issued calls for meetings to be held in Chicago the second week in February when the American and National Leagues, American Association and National Baseball Commission will be in session here.

Club owners of the Western League will meet February 10th to adopt a schedule and make other arrangements for the 1920 campaign.

RETURNS FROM JAIL GREETED HIS WIFE AND FALLS TO FLOOR DEAD

La Port, Ind., Jan. 21. (P)—Henry Wolf, who walked into his home at Wanatah, Ind., last night, unexpectedly returning from the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., fell dead after greeting his wife. Physicians pronounced death due to heart failure. Wolf was sentenced at Indianapolis in 1918 on a charge of aiding falsifying draft questionnaires. He was said to have declared that he "did more for the Kaiser than any one man in the community."

BRYAN RIPS CHAIRMAN CUMMINGS FOR LAUDING ED EDWARDS OF JERSEY

ASSERTS IF LATTER ENDORSED BY NEBRASKA HE WILL BE NO DELEGATE

Says If Edwards Is Looking For Fight
In His State There Will Be Warm One

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 21. (P)—William Jennings Bryan, speaking today under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon league of America, declared that he would oppose any movement to select Governor Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey as democratic nominee for president.

The former secretary of state also asserted that if an address made by Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the democratic national committee, at a dinner last night in Newark in honor of the newly inaugurated New Jersey executive correctly expressed the chairman's attitude, he would oppose him for chairman of the national committee.

"Edwards has picked out my own state Nebraska to launch his campaign in," declared Mr. Bryan. "But if Nebraska instructs for Edwards, I'll never be a delegate to the national convention."

Referring again to Governor Edwards who, he said, conducted his campaign in New Jersey on a "wet" ticket, Mr. Bryan reiterated: "If Nebraska instructs for Edwards, and I am a delegate, I'll resign. I'll never vote to nominate a man like that."

Following an eloquent appeal for support of the anti-saloon league, he digressed to say: "Twenty-four years ago, I commenced running for president."

Laughter followed. "Nineteen hundred years ago," he added, "the wise men came from the east. And New York editors think they are still coming. No reform ever started in New York, and they can have no faith in reform of any kind."

Referring to the possibility of republican victory this year, Mr. Bryan said: "God did not put the impossible in the hands of any human being, especially a republican, and no republican is going to be permitted to nominate."

JIM CROW CARS AND LYNCHING ARE DEPLORED

TUSKEGEE NEGRO CONFERENCE ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS TO THAT EFFECT

Freedom From Much Labor Disorder
In the South Attributed To Negroes Being Here

Tuskegee Institute, Ala., Jan. 21. (P)—Reaffirming its opposition to the alleged discriminations practiced by railroads and other common carriers and terming "indefensible" the alleged practice of charging negroes first-class fare and providing them with third and fourth-class accommodations the declarations of the twenty-ninth annual Negro Conference at Tuskegee was adopted here today following talks by prominent white men, including Governor Hoke Smith of North Carolina, as well as negro workers.

Lynching was deplored and its practice declared a "curse for nothing."

"If negroes commit crimes, they should be punished by the courts, not by lynching," the declaration stated. Better and fairer methods for adjusting many of the ordinary differences between the races was urged and the white and negro leaders in every community were asked to cooperate and help make the south an example to the world of people of different races living together in mutual respect and helpfulness.

Members of the race were urged to profit by the lessons of industry and thrift taught during the war and negro farmers were advised to grow sufficient food for their families and their stock and to raise more and better poultry, hogs and cattle. Increased values of farm products and higher wages should result, the conference declared, in better homes, schools and churches.

The conference suggested to planters that they offer more favorable renting condition to their negro tenants; that they make regular settlements and provide more comfortable homes. Houses for negroes with more sanitary surroundings in all parts of the south also were urged.

Attention was directed to the part the negro played in the war and in the unrest that has followed. "The south is that section of the country," the declaration stated, "most free from organized disorder and veiled attacks against the government and society, due in no small measure to the fact that the mass of labor in the south is negro labor to whom love of country is dominant."

MILLIONAIRE DEPORTERS OF I. W. W. SAY NOT GUILTY

Tombstone, Ariz., Jan. 21. (P)—Millionaire mine owners, shaft bosses, and deputies, and others to the number of 206, residents of the Warren mining district, pleaded not guilty to charges of kidnapping today. The charges are the result of the deportation of eleven hundred alleged I. W. W. members and sympathizers from Bisbee, July 12 1917, to Columbus, N. M.

NEW YORK REDS FIGHT INQUIRY INTO LOYALTY

ATTORNEY FOR THE MEN DE-FENDS SOVIET RUSSIA IN TALK TO ASSEMBLY

Martin Littleton Says Treason Will be the Law if Traitors Are Let Write Law.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Investigation of the loyalty of the five suspended Socialist assemblymen was asserted at their trial today before the assembly judiciary committee to involve the question as to whether Socialists "can hypocritically strike hands with every agency of force and revolution and still make Americans people understand they are not sworn enemies of their country and ready to overthrow it."

The assertion was made by Martin W. Littleton, who withdrew temporarily today as associate counsel for the committee to handle the case of United States Newberry of Michigan in connection with whose election charges of fraud have been brought.

Taking the floor in the height of an oratorical battle in which counsel for both sides unlimbered their heaviest artillery Mr. Littleton declared the present investigation will not prove a "tempest in a teapot."

Backed by Russian Reds.

He charged that Trotsky and Lenin are attempting installation in America of the Soviet form of government and that before the waves of public opinion stirred by this case have subsided "this so-called political party is the agent and co-conspirator with the dark forces of the invisible empire whose object is forcible destruction of constitutional government in America."

Opposing a motion that charges against the five Socialists be dismissed, Mr. Littleton declared that "the representation with reference to what these five did and what they profess and what they engaged to do, stands out as plainly as anything can stand out—that they gave their allegiance wholly and solely to an alien and invisibly empire known as the Internationale."

Hired Agents of Aliens.

Mr. Littleton declared that Socialists legislators could be ruled by aliens paying party dues and that "they are the hired agents of a group of aliens come to carry out the plans of the higher agents as far as they can in the councils of a free government."

Despite a ruling by the chair that there be no demonstrations during the trial there was a burst of applause from many women who filled floor and gallery when Mr. Littleton, after denouncing the attitude of the Socialist party toward the war, referred to a remark by Morris Hilquit, chief counsel for the defense, saying:

"Mr. Hilquit said yesterday that what may be treason today may be the law of the land tomorrow. It will be the law tomorrow if you let traitors write the law."

This later brought sharp objection from Mr. Hilquit, who declared Mr. Littleton's reactionary "un-American statement invoked applause in this house to the everlasting shame of those who participated."

Objection to Inference.

"Did I make any misstatement," demanded Mr. Littleton.

"No," said Mr. Hilquit "the statement was absolutely correct, but what I object to is the inference."

The second day brought denial of three more motions of the defense, bringing the total introduced and overruled to six. Today's asked reinstatement of the defendants during trial, dismissal of charges because they do not include cause, and specifications "to which even the meanest criminal is justified."

Argument on these motions consumed the entire day and delayed until tomorrow presentation of evidence. When Gilbert E. Roe, closed his argument on the first motion Seymour Stedman of Chicago, in arguing the second, launched forth in a defense of Soviet Russia.

LEAKING TRANSPORT IS NOT YET SAFE AND HER PASSENGERS STILL ON

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 21. (P)—Anxiety was felt in marine circles tonight for the safety of the United States army transport Powhatan and her 271 passengers, after a wireless message was received from Captain Travis of the Canadian government steamship Lady Laurier stating that his vessel was alongside the dence and that weather conditions were bad. The brief radio said: "Lady Laurier alongside the Powhatan. Weather conditions bad."

NAVY MEDALS CAUSE DEBATE IN THE SENATE

EDISON'S PART IN SUBMARINE DETECTING DECLARED TO BE NEGLIGIBLE.

Walsh Wanted to Criticize Admiral
Sims for Revealing Confidential
Instructions

Washington, Jan. 21.—The naval decoration award controversy twice reached the floor of the senate today, each time bringing forth bitter debate while the investigating subcommittee continued its inquiry with Major General George Barnett, commandant of the Marine Corps, and Rear Admiral A. W. Grant, wartime commander of the first battle ship force of the Atlantic fleet, as witnesses. The controversy first reached the senate when Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, introduced a resolution criticizing Rear Admiral William S. Sims for recent testimony before the investigating subcommittee in which "instructions of the most confidential nature" the senator said were laid before the world. After sharp debate, on objection of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican leader, the resolution went over.

Democrats Filibuster.

Later the dispute bobbed up when Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, acting democrat leader, aided by Senator Pittman of Nevada, democratic member of the investigating committee, conducted a successful filibuster against the resolution of Senator Hale of Maine, chairman of the committee, to allow the committee to employ a counsel. After the two democratic senators had spoken for some time, Chairman Hale interrupted the debate to say that it was evident that a filibuster was in progress, he would withdraw his motion for immediate vote. His resolution thereupon went over to be called up later, probably tomorrow.

Pending further action by the senate on his resolution, Chairman Hale adjourned hearing on the subcommittee late in the day until Friday, when Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight, head of the board, who passed on the recommendations before their submission to Secretary Daniels will be heard.

General Barnett in his testimony before the subcommittee took issue with Admiral Sims, saying that there was no need for promulgation by Secretary Daniels of a definite policy on naval medal awards as Admiral Sims had contended.

Declaring that Thomas A. Edison contrary to popular belief, "had little to do" with the perfection of submarine detecting devices during the war, Rear Admiral Grant told the committee that two young officers on his staff, Commander C. S. McDowell, and Lieutenant Commander Miles Libbey, were largely responsible for the successful development of the apparatus. The admiral said that he recommended "red" officers for navy crosses, but that they did not receive the awards.

ILLINOIS INDICTS 38 REDS FOR VIOLATION OF NEW SYNDICALISM ACT

Arraignment of those indicted was ordered for next Monday. The bonds of the more important alleged radicals were fixed at $10,000, those of the others at $5,000.

There were two charges in the indictments. One was for conspiracy to overthrow the government and the other for advocating the overthrow of the government.

Among those indicted are three women, the most prominent of whom is Margaret Prevey, of Akron, Ohio. Among others indicted were August Wagerknecht of New York, national executive secretary of the communist labor party, and John Reed, editor of "The Voice of Labor," said to be the party organ.

BACK TALK

Feet and Stars.

Another astrologer stated the other day that better and more sensible footwear would be characteristic of 1920. It seems that when some planet or combination of planets was passing through the constellation Aquarius, which governs ankles, women began to wear short skirts and display ankles. Now this planet is going to go through Pisces, which governs feet, and being a beneficently minded personality, it is going to save our pedal extremities.—Beaumont Enterprise.

Blessed be the stars. The twinkling, beaming forget-me-nots of the angels, which gem night's radiant brow, have done much for our world. Their constancy has enabled man to keep the directions within his grasp and find his way out of jungles. They have helped to weave most of the world's poetry, and are responsible for a great deal of its oratory. We are truly glad to know that our celestial friends which twinkle in the arch above have looked down in pity upon a stricken people and are going to help us solve the great problems of latter days the high cost of living. Your astrologer tells us that when the combination of planets was passing through the constellation Aquarius, which governs ankles, the women began to display their ankles. If this be correct, we may expect the good women to display their feet while the combination of planets is passing through the constellation Pisces, which governs feet. There cannot be a display of feet without discarding shoes, so we may expect barefootedness when the combination begins its journey through Pisces. But tell us, pray, what we may expect when the combination reaches the constellation Cancer, which governs the breasts.

If you never can attend a meeting, join anyway so that the League may know how many women of Paris are in sympathy with what they are undertaking for the betterment of the city.

School Entertainments.

Should the country town school teacher spend time giving entertainments? Some parents believe that rehearsing for such affairs diverts attention from the regular work. Rather trifling recitations, dialogues and songs are presented at such functions in some places, which are not worth the time the young folks give them. Also a lot of children may have to stay out late nights, so that their regular and orderly habits are disturbed.—Wills Point Chronicle.

Back Talk is for the school entertainment, no matter whether it be a country school, a town school or a city school. There is little of his school life that Back Talk recalls with pleasure, and most of that little clusters around the country school entertainments. Most of the school life was a season of dull, lifeless drudgery, but the school entertainment part was great. To have part in a dialogue was an honor so great that it caused a boy to forget all the work and all the whippings of the week. At these entertainments, which were usually given Friday afternoons, a boy was allowed the extreme pleasure of applauding his sweetheart when she sang, and the even greater pleasure of making fun of the singing of the girl he didn't like. But perhaps the greatest work of the old-time country school entertainment was that of making orators. There would be a dearth of oratory in our land today if there had been no country school entertainments in the long ago.

Declaring "Spartacus" Appeal to the Gladiators" and "Rienzi's Address to the Romans" made eloquent orators of most of the boys of forty years ago, and the world is now enjoying a baptism of eloquence. Back Talk probably never would have been an orator if he had not taken part in a country school entertainment one hot night in June, with fiery eloquence, he recited the old-time classic entitled "It Snows, Cries the School Boy." He received a big bouquet at the close of his declamation and has been speaking ever since.

Jurymen.

Germany's leading lawyer has been selected to defend the Kaiser. We don't give a cuss what lawyer or how many lawyers defend the Kaiser, if we can succeed in being one of the jurymen.—Clarksville Times.

If you should be accepted as a jurymen to try Mr. William Hohenzollern you would place one hand on your heart, one on the Bible and swear to weigh all testimony impartially and render a verdict according to the facts and the law. You would do that, wouldn't you? Of course you would; and you'd find Old Bill guilty and render a verdict to hang him higher than Haman was hanged. On that same jury, no doubt, would be some Hollander, who liked Bill and favored his cause in the great struggle. He would take the same oath you took, but he would find no wrong in the ex-Kaiser's acts, and would vote for his acquittal. We all believe in the honesty of juries and courts, but at the same time if the court is to pass on the constitutionality of prohibition, we prohibitionists would rather have a court made up of prohibitionists, and the anti would prefer a court made up of anti prohibitionists. Furthermore, if one of us should have to face trial for crime, we would stack the jury with our friends if we could, and we would tremble with terror if we knew the jurymen who were to sit on the case didn't like us. It may be that party bias and prejudice have nothing to do with the case, but we all lug around the fear that it does. Long years ago a commission was adopted to decide whether Mr. Tilden or Mr. Hays had been elected President. On that commission were eight Republicans and seven Democrats, and the vote stood eight for Hays and seven for Tilden. Mr. Hays was the Republican candidate and Mr. Tilden the Democratic candidate. Did the evidence convince all eight of the Republicans one way, and all seven of the Democrats another?

What If the Farmers Should Strike.

The farmer is the man who moves the world, we might say. If he would go out on strike and refuse to raise a crop for a single year, it would undoubtedly produce a more disastrous effect than would result from a universal strike of all the other labor organizations combined. In fact he could paralyze the world, yet there are many people who don't seem to know how much more prosperity depends on the farmer than it does on the dude with the $15 silk shirt and gloved hands.—Wills Point Chronicle.

We don't know how it is in the sandy-land region, where you reside, but in the black-land districts most of the silk shirts seen glitter on the noble breasts of farmers, and most of the gloved hands are those of the horny-handed sons of toil. Otherwise your points are well made. If the farmers should go out on a strike for a year the people would starve. And the right of the farmer to go on a strike is as good as that of any other class of workers. Some very brainy, good men have said that the right to strike belongs to every worker. If to strike means to stop production, which it does, Back Talk would prefer to take the position that no worker has a right to strike. To be sure every worker has a right to fair treatment and just remuneration, but I cannot bring myself around to the belief that any worker has a right to do something that will cause another to starve, freeze, go naked or suffer for the lack of attention. Every person has a duty to his fellows, and that duty is to contribute what he can to the comfort and happiness of others. To say that any person has a right to forsake his duty is to take position that is very hard to sustain.

Influencing Others.

It is impossible for anyone to estimate the influence which his speech and actions may have on the lives of others. Very often we influence those of whom we are the least aware.—Bonham Favorite.

It is a fact that nearly every act of one person has an influence on the life of another. Answer to a simple question may shape a career, and every act, every movement, has something to do with the destiny of another, as well as with the destiny of the person who speaks or acts. Oliver Cromwell once asked permission of King Charles to emigrate to America. The request was denied and Old Ironsides remained in England. Had Cromwell been permitted to embark for America all might have been well with Charles, but Cromwell was forced to remain and Charles lost his head. William G. McAdoo was at the point of moving to Texas many years ago, to become a law partner of his uncle at Brenham. The uncle died and McAdoo went to New York City. Had the uncle lived Mc would probably have been an obscure lawyer, spelling justice court and district court jurile, but the uncle never died and McAdoo built the New York tunnel, became secretary of the Treasury, married the President's daughter and is now a candidate for the presidency. Back Talk turned his back on the farm one day and went to town in search of a job. He went first to a livery stable and tendered his services to the proprietor thereof, but, in a very abrupt way, the livery stable proprietor let it be known that said services were not wanted. Had the livery stable man been kindly and considerate, Back Talk might have been a prosperous stock man today instead of a newspaper scribbler. Your moves have brought together men and women and led them Hymen's altar. Your words and acts have put many on the highway to prosperity and some on the downhill road to failure and poverty. You are responsible for marriages, for successes, for failures, for up-right lives and lives of sin. No man liveth unto himself.

FINANCES OF TEXAS ARE CAPABLY ADMINISTERED IF FIGURES ARE CORRECT

Austin, Texas, Jan. 20.—Despite the fact that it is generally said that state affairs are not as efficiently handled as are the affairs of private corporations, administration of state finances recently has disclosed some coups which would be a credit to an operator on Wall Street.

The state is getting a better average interest rate on funds held to meet current expenses than the United States is paying on war bonds. State depositories pay an average rate calculated upon the amount held by each bank as well as the number of banks, of nearly 4-1/2 percent. This interest is compounded monthly, which makes it equal to almost 5 per cent annually. A smack of humor enters the situation when it is remembered that the state requires depositories to furnish United States bonds as their equivalent as security for the money loaned to them. In other words, the state gets better interest on a demand account than the nation pays on long term loans.

The state also has outstanding bonds—$4,002,200 of them. But financial developments have, in a way, made these bonds an asset rather than a liability. Three million dollars worth of bonds bear only 3 per cent interest, and with money worth around 5 per cent, the state makes 2 per cent a year by not paying this debt. Tilden again, practically all the bonds out were issued as refunding bonds for issues which carried much higher interest rates.

A unique situation is presented in the ownership of these bonds by various permanent funds of the state. Total annual interest on the bonds is $135,021. This is paid from the general revenue, which is derived from taxation. The interest goes into the available fund of the institution owning the bond, and the scheme works out to be an indirect method of taxation.

But the institutions got the little end of the bargain, for the money from their permanent fund would bring about 2 percent more interest if it was invested in federal bonds. This line of reasoning recalls the tale of the fellow who thought he could grow rich by adding to the money he had in one pocket from the fund he had in another. The public supports both the general revenue fund and the institution available funds, and subtracting from one to add to the other would not ease the total burden.

Outstanding state bonds are classified as follows.

Refunding 3 percent bonds issued by an act of the Thirty-first legislature to refund frontier defense bonds due Sept. 1, 1910, and outstanding bonds for deficiency in revenue, issued April 21, 1879, due July 1, 1909; new bonds dated Sept. 1, 1910, due forty years, $1,143,700.

CHINKS DEMAND MORE THAN MEXICAN BANDITS.

Tenchowfu, Shantung, China, Dec. 27.—Bands of kidnapers recently have caused much alarm in this district. Operating in groups of from 20 to 50 they have carried away and held for ransom wealthy Chinese for whose release they have obtained as much as $50,000 in some cases.

Ten citizens were kidnapped in October. Promises to pay ransoms have been exacted by torture. Troops have tried to capture the bandits but have failed. It is believed the kidnapers come from Dalny, crossing the gulf of Pechili in boats in which they escape with their captives.

BRYAN'S DREAM COMES TRUE: SILVER SEEKS THE FINANCIAL SKY.

Shanghai, Dec. 26.—While Americans have been buying British pound sterling in New York for $3.70 or less, Americans here have been paying $100 in American gold for 76 Mexican dollars, which are in current use here.

This unprecedented advance in the rate of exchange in Shanghai has been due to the acute rise in the price of silver. Probably no country in the world has been more sharply affected by this enhanced value of silver than China.

In consequence of the confused state of exchange, the foreign trade through this city, China's principal commercial center, became more or less disorganized. Exporters ceased to look for new business and confined their activities wholly to filling old contracts from the terms of which they would have been glad to escape.

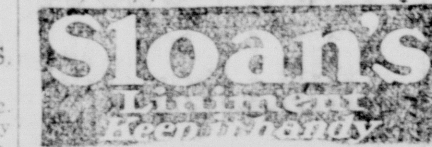

Shanghai bankers held frequent conferences day and night in an effort to determine what might be done to stabilize the exchange rates. For one day all but one of the leading banks in the city declined to issue drafts in connection with the export shipments to America. These exporters who buy their goods in China for silver and sell them abroad for gold suffered most severely. They were obliged to restrict operations or raise prices wherever the goods were sold.

DEMOCRAT CHAIRMAN DENIES INTENTION OF RAISING 20 MILLION

Washington, Jan. 21. (P)—Chairman Cummings of the democratic national committee, today made public a letter to the editors of the New York Tribune denying statements in that newspaper that the committee planned to raise a fund of $20,000,000 for this year's presidential campaign.

"At no time and under no circumstances," said Mr. Cummings, "has the chairman of the democratic national committee or any one else authorized to speak for the financial department of the committee made any statement indicating that it was the purpose of the democratic national committee to raise a fund of $20,000,000 for this year's presidential campaign."

"Such a fund could not be raised and could not be properly used if raised. Our purposes have been plain and unmistakable."

"We seek only enough campaign contributions to enable us to conduct a legitimate campaign and to present our cause adequately to the people."

HOW MANY PEOPLE RESIDE IN PARIS

Within the next few months the citizens of Paris will anxiously await the announcement from the Census Bureau at Washington the result of the enumeration of the census now being made for the definite information on the population of Paris. Upon inquiry we now hear that Paris has anywhere between 18,000 and 22,000 population and we fondly hope the government report will show a decided increase even over these casual estimates. Wouldn't every citizen be sorely and keenly disappointed if the announcement showed only 12,000 or 14,000? This condition and this result is liable to be obtained unless more interest is shown on the part of the citizens of Paris in the enumeration within the next few days.

Reports are being made to the Chamber of Commerce that show that some citizens are not cooperating in this important matter in the manner that will develop satisfactory results. It is found that only one family is reported from places where two or more are living and possibly several boarders in addition thereto. So many cases of this character and the more commonplace neglect to report even a single boarder who does not happen to be in when the enumerator called, is left uncorrected, is going to cost Paris several thousands and population in the final result.

Announcement has been made through all the churches of the importance of a complete census. The telephone company has volunteered to call every subscriber to ascertain whether or not they have been enumerated. Every industrial plant, wholesale and retail establishment in the city is being asked to canvass their employees. Slides are being run at the picture shows and every other imaginable effort is being put forth by the Chamber of Commerce to impress each citizen with the importance of this canvass. In addition to all these precautions against an incomplete enumeration we are asking that every citizen of Paris interest themselves in this matter and make personal inquiries and if someone is found who has not been enumerated report the matter by phone immediately giving the name and address of the party to the Chamber of Commerce, phone 1722 and 1723.

AN EFFORT TO ABANDON HIGHWAY DEFEATED

It was learned yesterday from a Delta county visitor to Paris that at a meeting of the county commissioners' court a few days ago an effort was made to abandon highway No. 19 connecting with Lamar county at the crossing of Sulphur below Broadway. Those who advocated abandoning it claimed that it would require too large a part of the amount for which the bonds were voted and would not leave enough to be expended on other roads. They wanted the amount that was proposed to be expended on the highway spent in the improvement of roads for local travel across the country. The proposition to abandon the highway, however, was defeated and the court made an appropriation from the bond fund for its construction through the county from its connection with the Lamar county end of it at the crossing below Broadway.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE IS HEADED FOR THE CELLAR

New York, Jan. 21. (P)—Utter collapse and demoralization over the foreign exchange market today, resulting in new low records for British, French, Italian and various other European remittances.

British demand bills fell to $3.60 3/4, or 3 1/2 cents under their previous minimum and Paris francs, Italian lire and Belgian francs broke in corresponding degree.

Dealers in exchange were again inclined to attribute today's collapse to the unfavorable trade balances against almost all foreign centers and the failure of the United States senate to ratify the peace treaty.

In other quarters where the situation has given rise to increased misgivings today's slump was more directly associated with the process of "deflation" due to stringent credit conditions demanded by the federal reserve board.

CONGRESSMAN BLACK WANTS DATA ON PARIS

Secretary E. C. Bracken of the Chamber of Commerce received a letter yesterday from Congressman Eugene Black stating that he would like to secure some general data from him in regard to Paris to be used in furtherance of his efforts to secure an increase in the appropriation for the building of a new postoffice here. Shortly after the big fire in 1916 a bill was passed by congress as an emergency act appropriating the sum of $170,000 for a new postoffice here, but the United States having joined in the world war shortly afterward all public building expenditures and everything else were subordinated to the task of winning the war.

After the war Congressman Black introduced a bill to increase the appropriation for the Paris postoffice in view of the higher cost of building materials. It was first proposed to increase the original amount $30,000, and later it was proposed to increase it $65,000, the item being included in what was known as an omnibus bill. Congress got into a wrangle and the omnibus bill was killed. It is understood that it is to be revived and Mr. Black desires to get his amended bill in shape to have it reinstated.

CARPENTIER COMING TO AMERICA IN FEBRUARY

New York, Jan. 21.—Private advices from France are that Georges Carpentier, European champion will arrive in this country about the middle of February. The French pugilist, challenger for the world's title now held by Jack Dempsey, will come to the United States to fulfill a contract entirely outside his ring activities but there is understood to be no obligation in this contract which would prohibit him from engaging in either exhibition or limited round boxing contests.

While Carpentier's manager, Des Camps, refuses to divulge the actual conditions of the contract, various promoters take it for granted that the French fighter will be permitted to engage in some form of restricted ring activity and there is certain to be a wild scramble for his services. In view of this early arrival it is unlikely Carpentier will sign for a championship bout with Dempsey until he reaches America.

Weak, Thin, Nervous People Should Take Bitro-Phosphate

What It Is And How It Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve-Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms and neck, and replacing their hollow and anemic by the soft, curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves, our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should soon produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes brighten, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION: While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

YOUNG WOMAN HAS THE POLICE FORCE PUZZLED

Atlanta Ga., Jan. 21. (P)—A young woman garbed as an aviator was being held at the police station here tonight while frankly puzzled police sought to determine whether she is Jeanne Anna DeKay, missing protegee of Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago.

The girl police say, fits press descriptions of Miss DeKay except that her hair is bobbed and the word "Helen" is tattooed on her arm. Under quizzing today, it is said, she first then said she "knew" Miss DeKay, and tonight denied it. She first gave her name as Jeanne De Longe, Belgian widow of a French soldier, according to the police.

The young woman was arrested Monday because she was wearing men's clothing on the streets, but she asserted she was an aviator and that she merely happened to come out in her uniform. She showed such knowledge of airplanes that Police Chief Beavers released her. She was arrested again yesterday and a blanket charge of "disorderly conduct" was docketed against her as the result of appearing in the lobby of a downtown hotel in men's attire and today police started an investigation to determine whether she was Miss DeKay. The young woman will be held pending definite determination of her identity, it was said.

Chicago Says Not Anna.
Chicago, Jan. 21.—The description of the woman being held by the police at Atlanta, Ga., does not correspond with that of Jeanne Anna De Kay, it was said tonight at Hull House.

Miss Jane Addams had departed from the city, but an official at Hull House said that a description of the Atlanta woman contained in a telegram received today did not tally with Miss De Kay's, and that the story she told Atlanta officials was discredited.

Chicago officials directing the search for the missing heiress, who disappeared from Hull House, December 30 showed little concern over the Atlanta report, expressing confidence that the woman was not Miss De Kay.

ABORIGINAL MEXICANS CHINESE DESCENDANTS

Laredo, Tex., Jan. 21.—Archologists have discovered Chinese characters carved on the pyramids at Teotihuacan, near Mexico City, and members of the Chinese legation in the Mexican capital declare the characters identical to those formerly used in ancient Mongolian writing. This information is contained in Monday's issue of El Universal of Mexico City, which declares this brings up the question whether Mexicans descended from Chinese.

300ZE SHIPS EVIDENTLY LOST CARGO OVERBOARD

Portsmouth, Texas, Jan. 21.—Rattlesnakes in large numbers frequently have been swimming in the Gulf of Mexico near the Half Moon light house, seven miles from main land and four miles from the peninsula to the south, according to the two men who keep the light. Recently three rattlers were killed on the light house platform by the keepers.

Tenants on property which formerly constituted the Rancho Grande here report a pestilence of rattlesnakes, which they say are a menace to livestock. However, it is reported by a number of farmers that fat cattle, bitten by rattlers, do not die, the poison from the bite of one snake being insufficient to kill them.

The wedding was not in any sense a runaway affair but was not planned to have been celebrated until later and it was therefore a simple quiet ceremony.

IN CONSTANT USE BY PHYSICIANS EVERY DAY

Medicinal Value of S. S. S. Is Fully Recognized.

Almost every human ailment can be traced, one way or another, to impurities in the blood. So you cannot overestimate the importance of keeping your circulation built up, so that your heart will be constantly pumping rich, red, life-giving blood to all parts of the system. Any slight disorder or impurity that creeps into the blood is a source of danger, for every vital organ of the body depends upon the blood supply to properly perform its functions. It is quite true that practically every one is equally exposed to the attacks of disease. You are just as liable to be attacked as the man or woman sitting next to you on the street car. It all depends upon the condition of your blood. If it is thin and impoverished, and has been allowed to reach a low state by the accumulation of impurities, you have not sufficient vitality to resist these germ attacks, and they find a fertile field in your system to spread disease.

Over a hundred years ago the Indians made many excellent remedies and tonic from roots and herbs gathered from the forests. One of these formulas was handed down to the white man and for more than fifty years has been used as S. S. S., which is recognized as the best known blood medicine on the market.

This fine old remedy is still made as of old from roots and herbs of proven medicinal value. In fact, physicians everywhere recognize the wonderful efficiency of these roots, and they are prescribed in some form or other almost daily.

And now after being in constant use for more than half a century, S. S. S. is more popular than ever. It is sold by practically every drug store in the land, and every druggist is well acquainted with its sterling merit, for they have seen its results.

S. S. S. is a very valuable agent in the treatment of Catarrh, Rheumatism, Eczema, Tetters, boils, pimples, skin eruptions, malaria, and other disorders that come from blood impurities.

It is also without an equal as a general tonic and system builder. By its efficacy in cleansing the blood of impurities, it builds up the appetite and gives new life and vigor to the entire body.

MAYO TAKES ISSUE ON NAVAL CONTROVERSY WITH ADMIRAL WILSON

Washington, Jan. 21.—Direct issue with Rear Admiral William S. Sims on the two leading controverted points in the naval decorations dispute was taken today by Rear Admiral Henry T. Mayo, war time commander of the United States fleet, in testimony before the senate subcommittee investigating the medal award controversy.

Reading his letter to Secretary Daniels giving views on the decoration awards, which views, he said, were not presented as a protest, Admiral Mayo first disagreed with Admiral Sims as to the relative importance of sea and shore duty. Admiral Mayo explained to the committee that he wrote to Secretary Daniels because he did not believe the Knight Board of Awards of Mr. Daniels had given sufficient consideration to the importance of the duties performed by officers who served at sea with the Atlantic fleet. Admiral Sims in his testimony and also in his letter to Secretary Daniels declining the distinguished service medal contended that too much importance was attached to the services of officers who served at sea as compared with those who administered important posts on shore.

The second point on which Admiral Mayo differed with Admiral Sims was the question of the award of medals to the commanding officers of ships sunk or seriously damaged by torpedo attack or mines. While stating that a broad general policy along that line would not be a good thing for the service, Admiral Mayo declared that in cases where the commanding officer's conduct was of an especially meritorious character a proper reward should be given. Admiral Mayo approved without qualification the action of the Knight Board and Secretary Daniels in awarding distinguished service medals to Captain Christy of the cruiser San Diego, sunk by a mine, and Commander P. W. Foote of the transport President Lincoln, sunk by a torpedo. Admiral Sims severely criticized the action of Secretary Daniels in insisting on the awards to the commanding officers of ships sunk by the enemy.

Admiral Mayo's testimony was brief and tomorrow the subcommittee will hear Major General Barnett, commandant of the marine corps.

The naval award controversy reached the floor of the senate through presentation of a resolution by Chairman Hale of the "committee to authorize employment of counsel and a clerical force to aid in the investigation. Although final action was prevented by absence of a quorum, there was considerable discussion. Senators Thomas, Colorado; King, Utah and Phelan, California, democrats, questioning the necessity of counsel. Chairman Hale in reply said the resolution had been approved unanimously by the subcommittee and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican leader, supporting the resolution said the charges made by Admiral Sims had made the investigation virtually an inquiry into the conduct of the war by the navy.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt today announced the personnel of a board of inquiry to investigate conditions at the Newport, R. I., Naval station, which led to charges by John R. Rathorn, of the Providence (R. I.) Journal of Impropriety in the navy. The board which was designated ten days ago is composed of Rear Admiral Herbert O. Dunn, commandant of the first naval district; Captain John F. Hines, Captain David E. Theelen and Ensign Henry E. Hyneman, Judge Advocate.

PAN-AMERICAN MEET PRAISES THIS COUNTRY

Washington, Jan. 21.—After a day spent in group conferences in which delegates from the various countries discussed national problems, with representatives of American business, the second general session of the Pan-American financial congress was assembled tonight with William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, as its presiding officer. Dr. John Bassett Moore, vice-president of the central executive council of the international high commission, which was organized in 1916 to promote mutual interests of American republics, gave an account of the commission's work.

In the group discussions Argentina led off with the request presented through Frank Vanderlip, the United States representative, for modification of state banking laws so to permit South American banks to open branches in the United States. Mr. Vanderlip said that American members supported the Argentine delegates' request.

"Although American banking houses are opening branches all over the world," he said, "our laws in certain states make it impossible for Latin-American institutions to open branches in this country. The interests of fairness demand readjustment."

Haitian delegates at their group meeting passed resolutions commending the United States for occupying that country, and declaring that "internal conditions have been greatly improved since the coming of the United States into the Haitian national situation."

The representative of United States business concerns on the Bolivian committee recommended that the country be aided in securing a loan of $5,000,000 with which to complete a railroad across South America passing through Bolivia. Dr. Moore in his address tonight reported particularly on the work of the international high commission for the betterment of internal trade relations.

E. Salaberry, minister of finance of Argentina, followed Mr. McAdoo and declared that the world at large was modelling its conduct now upon the same ideals that had led to the Pan-American movement.

Juan Navarro Diaz, of the Panama delegation, also responded to Mr. McAdoo's address. Former secretary McAdoo dealt largely with the financial aspects of increased trade between republics on the north and South American continents and the present day position in which the Americas find themselves with reference to Europe.

"The marvelous prosperity the Americas have enjoyed has given us, united, great capacity for service to the world," said Mr. McAdoo. "Europe, ravaged by war, hungry and destitute, yet strong in recuperative power, needs our materials. The task is a common one for the Americas. We, the American republics, are partners in responsibility and should be cooperators in a great enterprise. We must, to the extent of our ability, aid Europe promptly, generously and on sound economic lines."

MOST BOLSHEVIK TALK IN U. S. BUNCOMBE SAYS SENATOR OWEN OF OKLA.

Thinks Graham Bill Would Destroy Established Liberties of the American People to Talk.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The Graham anti-sedition bill, pending in the house, was attacked by Senator Owen of Oklahoma, in an address here tonight before the National popular government league of which he is president. Senator Owen said the measure extended governmental power beyond all reasonable inhibition, and placed in the office of the postmaster general powers which should not be intrusted to any "bureaucratic clerk."

"Such arbitrary power would assuredly be abused," said Senator Owen. "and liberty of speech be under an ever dangerous menace. I have too much faith in the common sense and patriotism of some 110,000,000 of American people to believe that either opinions about their government or their government itself can be 'overthrown' by a handful of extreme theorists."

"I am willing under the guise of curbing this handful of agitators to destroy the established liberties of the American people to discuss their constitution and laws and criticize the government and elected and appointed servants with no fear of penitentiaries, arrests, fines and cruel and unusual punishments hanging over them."

"Ninety per cent. of talk about the danger of a Bolshevik 'revolution' in this country is nonsense. It is high time to discount history and return to normal thinking. Moreover I believe the time has come to liberate mere political prisoners as all European nations have done."

MARTIN'S MANAGER SAYS DEMPSEY'S MANAGER IS RUNNING IN CIRCLES

Joplin Mo., Jan. 21. (P)—James Bronson, manager of Bob Martin, heavyweight boxing champion of the American expeditionary forces, said here tonight that he had no information other than press reports of the telegram Jack Kearns, manager of Dempsey, is reported to have sent him, attacking his alleged methods in "boosting" Martin in opposition to Dempsey.

"Kearns is running in circles," Bronson said. "The letter which he refers to was only a copy of the resolutions adopted by the Pueblo, Colo., post of the American Legion and an announcement of a bona fide offer I have received from promoters there to stage a fight between Martin and Carpenter."

"Kearns' message as reported in press dispatches evidently takes more exception to the resolutions than to any word or act of either mine or Martin's. Those resolutions were passed without my knowledge or advice. The first word I received from there was the offer of a $75,000 purse for Martin's service in a bout with Carpenter and a copy of the resolutions was attached."

"As a matter of fact Martin was matched with Carpenter before Dempsey won the championship. Martin, the American representative at the Inter-Allied games, through the system of drawing used was to have met the French soldier-champion, who was representing the French at the soldier olympiad, but circumstances prevented."

BLAZE FROM WASTE OIL
MAKES A BIG SMOKE

A general alarm was turned in about 10:45 o'clock yesterday morning for a fire on the north side of town, which was answered by the Central station and the East Side station. A dense smoke arose, creating the impression that there was a big fire, in progress. The fire was located on the old Santa Fe switch near the brickyard. Fuel oil is used to burn the brick kiln, and a shipment of crude oil was being transferred from a tank car to the brickyard when the fire occurred.

The oil was thick and didn't run through the pipe fast enough for the tank. One of the men built up a fire under the car to warm the oil in order to make it flow faster, and although rain was falling waste oil caught on fire in the grass and made a big blaze and a dense smoke. As soon as the oil on the ground caught on fire the pipe connecting with the tank was cut off, which prevented the fire from communicating to the tank.

The blaze from the waste oil was extinguished with chemicals, the application of water being ineffectual in putting out blazing oil. There was no damage done.

YOUTHFUL TRAVELER
ARRIVES FROM CHICAGO

Little Miss Mattie White arrived in Paris yesterday afternoon from Chicago, where she has been making her home the past few years, to visit her grandfather, March England, a well known farmer of the Springhill community, who was at the station to meet her. She is only eight years old and made the trip by herself. This is not her first trip alone, however, from Chicago. Two years ago, when she was only six years old, she came here to visit her grandfather. Nobody accompanied her, but the conductors looked after her.

Her record as a youthful traveler ante-dates her first trip from Chicago. At the age of four she came from Abilene to visit her grandparents, her welfare being entrusted to the conductors. Her mother, who was Miss Parom England before her marriage, was fond of horseback riding and hunting. She has been studying music in Chicago the past three years and expects to complete the course this year.

IN CORRECTION

Some days ago the Floyd Motor Company had an advertisement in The News which should have read in part, as did the copy supplied by Mr. Floyd:

"do not buy a Car, tractor or truck" etc.

In setting the advertisement the type was accidentally made to read: "do not buy a CASE tractor" etc.

This was of course an error such as will sometimes occur in newspapers. The Case Tractor is sold here in Paris. It is a good tractor, and neither the Floyd Motor Company nor the Morning News had any desire or intention of advising people to not buy it. Most people understood the error but some did not and it is to set them right that The News makes this statement.

COUNTY COURT TRIALS
MISDEMEANOR DOCKET

The trial of Charley White, negro, on the charge of deserting his wife, which was begun in the county court Tuesday, was resumed yesterday morning and resulted in the jury returning a verdict of not guilty. It consumed more time and excited more interest than any case in which a darky figured as defendant that has been tried in quite awhile. Although the law making wife desertion a misdemeanor has been a statute books several years prosecutions have been rare.

Gordon Davis, charged with bootlegging, was tried by jury and a verdict of guilty was returned. The jury assessed a fine of $50 coupled with a jail sentence of thirty days. Tom Pace, charged with bootlegging, was fined $25 and was given a jail sentence of twenty days on a plea of guilty. Vernon Johnson pleaded guilty to using an automobile without the consent of the owner and was fined $5. Iley Cason, charged with shooting at another negro, pleaded guilty to aggravated assault and was fined $25.

SENDING RANGERS TO WICHITA WAS SIMPLY TAKING PRECAUTION

Austin, Jan. 21. (P)—In discussing unofficial reports from Wichita Falls that Texas rangers are planning to attempt to gain possession of oil property in dispute between Texas and Oklahoma and held by Oklahoma claimants, Governor Hobby said late today that the rangers are under command of Adjutant General W. D. Cope, who is in charge of the situation in Wichita county, and no information as to General Cope's plans has been received here.

Colonel H. C. Smith, in charge of the adjutant general's office during the latter's absence, said that in his opinion there is no danger of a clash between rangers and Oklahoma deputies. He added that if a conflict was expected that a larger Texas force would have been sent.

Unofficial information is that rangers expect to arrest Oklahoma deputies on alleged Texas soil on charges of unlawfully carrying arms. This, if it be correct, is the only information here that offers of the two states may fight.

Inate the next president of the United States."

WON'T JOIN EDWARDS IN TURNING PARTY OVER TO LIQUOR INTERESTS

Richmond, Va., Jan. 21. (P)—William Jennings Bryan continued the attack against Homer S. Cummings chairman of the democratic national committee here tonight. Referring to Chairman Cummings' attendance at an inaugural dinner for Governor Edwards of New Jersey, Mr. Bryan declared that Cummings must either separate from the New Jersey executive or resign as head of the democratic national committee.

Mr. Bryan, who was greeted with loud applause, criticized Governor Edwards for his stand on the prohibition question and attacked Cummings for what he termed the chairman's apparent support of the New Jersey governor.

"The democratic party is too near and dear to me to allow me to let it be buried with high liquor interests," declared Mr. Bryan.

"If I am elected a delegate to the national convention and my state instructs me to vote for Mr. Edwards, I shall refuse to serve. I won't join with Mr. Edwards in trying to turn the democratic party over to the liquor interests."

"If the chairman," he continued, referring to Cummings, "has not sense enough to know better than to join in a boom for a candidate like that he hasn't sense enough to be on the committee."

Mr. Bryan took a fling at Edwards again when he referred to reports that Edwards had announced his candidacy for president in Nebraska and Virginia.

"I don't know why Mr. Edwards went to Nebraska to announce his candidacy," he said, "unless he wanted a hot fight and if he did he sure came to the right place. If Edwards comes down here I want you to be ready for him."

Many members of the state assembly were in the audience and to them he directed an appeal that the woman suffrage amendment be ratified at this session.

DECLARES SOCIALIST POLITICAL PARTY NOT CONCERNED IN STRIKES

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 21. (P)—The question of whether a general strike will follow if the five socialist assemblymen are permanently ousted from the lower house "is a question which only the labor organizations of the country can decide," declared S. John Bloch, state chairman of the socialist party.

Mr. Bloch made that statement when asked if a question put to a spokesman today by Attorney Recht at the trial in New York of former Assemblyman Gitlow, charged with anarchy, was to be taken as an intimation that a general strike was in prospect. Mr. Recht's question was: "If the representatives of the socialist party or communist party, after being duly elected, were thrown out of the state assembly and such an act were followed by a general strike, would you consider the advocacy of such a strike an unlawful act?"

Mr. Bloch, who is one of the counsel for the ousted assemblymen, said: "the socialist party is a political organization and does not concern itself with fomenting strikes but I will not say that such action is unlikely if the workers decide representative government is a dead letter."

He added, however, that personally he did not believe there would be a general strike.

GEN. PERSHING TO GET FULL SALUTE OF GUNS WHEN VISITS EL PASO

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 21.—For probably the second time in history the full general's salute of 17 guns will be heard in El Paso when Fort Bliss artillery greets General John J. Pershing on his arrival here on his present tour of the country. Available records indicate that General William Tecumseh Sherman in 1880 received the only previous similar salute here. General Pershing is scheduled to arrive here on February 1 or 2. Should he arrive on Sunday, Feb. 1, no salute will be fired because it is not permissible on the Sabbath under army regulations.

Old residents recall interesting events in connection with the visit of General Sherman forty years ago. With President Rutherford Hays, he was making a "swing around the circle." The party traversed the north-west thence down to San Francisco, and returning, traversed by rail to Tucson, Ariz. There was no railroad between Tucson and El Paso, and General Sherman and staff crossed the then desert to El Paso in "backboards" while President Hayes went north from Tucson by rail.

General Sherman's visit to the then frontier-border village of El Paso created quite a stir locally. He was tendered a banquet at the "leading" hotel on the site of which stands today a modern department store. Old-timers tell of a joke on the hero of the war between the states. Speaking at the banquet the famous general had occasion to refer to Chihuahua City, Mexico. He pronounced it "Chi-hoey-hoey."

A well-meaning El Pasoan nudged General Sherman and gave him the proper pronunciation. The general instantly announced that "my friend to the right" had corrected him, and before the whole assembly of banquetters, again asked for the correct pronunciation of Chihuahua.

The incident was especially amusing, say old residents, because General Sherman had studied Spanish at West Point and had also visited Chihuahua City.

It is also recalled here in connection with General Sherman's visit that outlaws in the San Simon valley of Arizona plotted to capture and hold him for ransom. The scheme failed, however.

Only two officials receive a higher or salute than a general—an ambassador gets 19 guns; the president of the United States 21.

KEARNS THREATENS TO HAVE LAW ON BRONSON FOR KNOCKING DEMPSEY

Los Angeles Jan. 20. (P)—Jack Kearns manager of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, today announced he had sent the following telegram to Jimmy Bronson, manager of Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the A. E. F. in France.

"In justice to Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, I must demand that you cease immediately your propaganda that you are now starting throughout the country in your efforts to boost Bob Martin and to promote a fight between him and Carpenter by sending out literature which is false and misleading, in which you are attempting to convey an impression that Jack Dempsey was a draft-dodger and unfit to represent America in titular battles.

"I have in my possession now a letter which you are sending broadcast quoting unwarranted reasons to show Dempsey was a draft-dodger and which you are using in an effort to boost your fighter.

"Your action is the most outrageous ever attempted by a manager and a rival fighter. Real sportsmen do not have to adopt those odds and if there are any more moves like that on your part I will be forced to take the proper legal action."

MYSTERY OF MASSACHUSETTS HERMIT IS NOT ELUCIDATED.

Old records in the town clerk's office referring to Arthur Carey, original owner of 550 acres of land in Leicester, one of the founders of the town and the first white man to settle in the then Indian region known as Towtaid, recalls the fact that the mystery relating to Carey was never solved.

Carey was found here living in a cave, when the first white explorers came here in 1699, and he had been in Towtaid, according to his own story, for more than twenty-five years.

Having no flint and steel and no other means of starting a fire to cook and to keep his lonely cave warm, Carey used the Indian pointed stick until the heat of the revolving stick set the material on fire.

Carey kept one fire blazing and smoking for forty years without once allowing it to flicker out. He had a tame bear and a tame deer when his cavern was found by the explorers from Boston in 1699, and the wild creatures and birds of the wilderness did not seem to fear him.

He had almost forgotten human speech and it was days before he could converse with them. Carey was born in Ireland and was an outlaw under England's rule in his native land. It was believed he was a former member of a pirate crew.

About the year of 1670 a pirate vessel was sunk off Cape Cod by a warship and her crew was taken to Boston and hanged on Corn Hill. One of the pirate crew escaped and was never caught, according to ancient records.

It was believed in later years that Carey was the youthful pirate who was released from a stone cell through pity of a jailer's daughter. In June 1699, an exploring party of white men, striking westward from Worcester, landed in the Towtaid country, which is now Leicester, and located on what is now Leicester Hill, where they found the most luxurious growth of wild strawberries they ever saw and an abundance of rattlesnakes which knew no fear of mankind.

The same day that they left Strawberry Hill they located another hill which ever since has been known as Carey's Hill.

Living in a cave which he had dug out of the side of a steep pitch on the hill, they found a hermit white man, who gave his name as Arthur Carey. He said that he had lived there for more than twenty years; for so long, in fact that he had lost count of the months and years.

He was a stalwart man, broad of shoulder and of erect carriage, and he frowned on the explorers asking him many questions. He told them briefly that he was born in Ireland, and that many years ago he located in that spot to have peace of mind, as he said, and to escape those whom he said wanted to deprive him of life on account of political matters in his native land.

He told of leaving Boston in the night time and of traveling through the almost trackless forests of Long odds, which he crossed at a narrow place in a dugout drawn up on shore belonging to Indians, and of how he was met in a dense pine wood by another white man dressed in furs and armed with an ax, who took him to his log cabin and fed him and made him remain as a guest for several weeks.

The white man, he said, was named Ephraim, Curtis, and his log house was on the great overland trail.

Carey's story tallied to a T with what the white explorers already knew about Curtis, as that hardy pioneer was the first white man to settle in Worcester, and build his hut on what is now Lincoln street, in 1637, and land that he pre-empted that year is still in possession of his descendants, the Curtis family. Curtis expressed sympathy with Carey and advised him to locate on a steep hill about eleven miles further west and that was how Carey came into the Towtaid country.

He dug his cave into the hillside with sharpened pine splinters, and when he got it about thirty feet deep he fashioned rude supporters for the roof out of fallen trees. He had only an ax and a very few utensils, all that he carried on his back on the long walk from Boston.

He made bows and arrows and managed to snare rabbits and shoot deer and wild fowl enough to keep alive, but his methods were ruder and cruder than that of the Indians, who at least had a few of the necessities of life.

Carey told his visitors that without flint and steel it required more than a week for him to start a fire by twirling a pointed stick in a bunch of dried tinder, and once he got the blaze going he tended it carefully as his most treasured possession.

He had a huge pile of fuel collected all around the mouth of his cave odds and ends of blowdowns, limbs of trees and all kinds of forest deadwood bark and even brush. The entrance to his cavern was through a great heap of this fuel, and inside the cave, close to the entrance, his fire was kept alight.

When the white explorers found him he was still under fifty years of age and his hair that streamed in tangled wisps over his shoulders and his long, matted beard were brown, without gray.

He had traded to some extent with the redmen and had an outfit of rude stone dishes fashioned by the Indians out of soapstone, a great supply of hunting and fishing arrows, furs and clothing made of the tanned skin of wild animals. He had a rude table made of pinewood, split into rough planks, and a chair and a rough sort of bed, piled with pine and spruce boughs and furs.

He had no powder or shot and eagerly traded some of his most prized furs for an extra musket and some powder and shot. He cultivated a field of maize and had methods of smoking meat and fish for his winter diet.

He said he never had trouble with the redmen and although Worcester was raided by war parties he was never molested. He had a small knowledge of surgery and medicine and showed Indians how to crush the juice out of the wild grapes, pour it into their huge hollow stones they used for mortar, cover it with skins held down by rocks and let ferment. This drink appealed to the redmen and they swore friendship for the hairy white man.

In a history of Worcester county in MYSEBY—GAIL TWO 1793 the Rev. Peter Whitney wrote: "The first inhabitants upon their arrival found a hermit named Arthur Carey, living on a hill, which for him was named Carey's Hill. He went thither and digged a cave in the side of this hill and lived there as a hermit many years while that part of the country was in its wilderness state.

"What were his feelings when his solitude was disturbed by the approach of civilization no one now can tell, nor what had been the romance or the tragedy of his life, nor why he had retired from the world and buried himself in the lonely forest.

As the Towtaid district filled up with settlers, however, Carey withdrew farther back into the wilderness, but his love for the old cave overcame any fears that he might have held, and one day he returned to it. He wore fine raiment and plentifully supplied with golden money, one of the rarest sights in the new country, where even worn shillings were scarce, and all trading was done by barter.

He intended to keep the cave at all hazards, and when the township was divided into grants, Arthur Carey was one of the original owners. Carey's name comes fifth on the list of the earliest settlers and founders of Leicester, according to the records in the town clerk's office and of the forty men on that list their descendants are still managing affairs in Leicester, with the exception of the mysterious Carey, who left no descendants as far as known.

In June, 1714, after a survey by John Chandler of Worcester, fifty households of thirty to fifty acres apiece were allotted with an additional after right of 100 acres for each ten acres in the household.

The price was one shilling an acre and it was a matter of great interest at the time that the taciturn hermit paid for his 50 acres in gold coins, as shiny as if they were fresh from the mint. He paid fifty shillings for his vast acreage and built a log house on his property, one end of which was backed up to his cave and was the entrance to it.

What few purchases he made were paid in gold.

When Carey appeared in Leicester for the last time he was dressed in clothes much better than the average settler could afford, carried a gold-headed cane and was supplied with considerable money. He remarked that he was going to Worcester and thence to Boston. He was seen in Worcester, where he was a guest at the Stearns Hotel, and from his departure next morning by the post coach for Boston he was never seen in Leicester again.

Where he went, or what became of him has always been a mystery.—Worcester Telegram.

WAR HAS CHANGED THE FOOT AND HEADGEAR OF THE BALKAN PEOPLE.

Petch, Montenegro, Jan. 20.—Americanization of the foot-wear of the Balkans within a few years may be one of the unexpected results of the war. The Serbian sandals or opanchi, of soft pliable leather was abandoned when Serbia was compelled to call upon the allies for equipment, for only the stiff shoe, to which western European and American armies were accustomed was available. Now, upon demobilization finds it difficult to return to the primitive sandal.

Supplies of old shoes gathered in America which were distributed recently by the American Red Cross were snatched up by the peasants with avidity. American business already has begun to exploit this new source of demand so that a few more years probably will see the Balkan peasant wearing American shoes.

The war has dealt the venerable headgear of the Montenegrin, a telling blow.

More than 600 years ago, in 1389, those Serbs who were driven to take refuge from the Turk in the mountains of Montenegro after the overthrow of the Serbian Empire at the battle of Kosovo, adopted a cap which was intended to keep fresh in their minds forever a national consciousness. The cap still worn to this day is brimless and bordered by a black band of mourning. The crown is a crimson red for the blood which was shed in the battle and embroidered about the edge are six gold-threaded circles for the six centuries which have elapsed since 1389.

Some now have discarded the cap for, now that Montenegro and the Serbs have come into the glory which was theirs before Kosovo, there seems to many of them to be no reason for the perpetuation of the sentiment which the cap was calculated to keep alive through the period of adversity of the nation.

CHICAGO INFLUENZA CASES INCREASING IN NUMBER DAY BY DAY

Chicago, Jan. 20. (P)—The number of new influenza cases in Chicago today passed the point for any one day of last year's epidemic. A total of 2,514 cases were reported to the board of health today, with 26 deaths. New pneumonia cases numbered 297, with 57 fatalities. The greatest number of influenza cases for a single day last year was 2,400.

Although the nursing "militia" organized by the health commissioner was augmented by many volunteers today several hundred more calls than the force of 1,000 could care for were received and tonight a call for further volunteers to assist in checking the epidemic was made. Every hospital in the city is crowded and 650 cases of influenza are being cared for at the county hospital.

The state health officers said tonight that Rockford, Illinois, is one of the most seriously affected cities in the state, having 1,800 cases and 35 of pneumonia. But one death has been reported there. The disease is subsiding at Camp Grant and at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

DINNER PAID PASSING FROM BIG FACTORIES REPLACED BY HOT LUNCH.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 20.—The dinner pail is passing from the mills and factories of the Pittsburgh district. Restaurants and cafeterias are taking its place in the more important plants because executives are beginning to realize that a hot, palatable meal makes the workman more contented and more valuable than the cold, indigestible food packed away in a tin bucket.

In the Homestead mills of the Carnegie steel company in Munhall, a few miles from Pittsburgh, more than 11,000 men are fed in the cafeteria constantly growing. At the plant of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company in East Pittsburgh, also a suburb, 1,200 employees get their food in the company restaurant, and a new dining hall and modern kitchen is being erected. When it is completed, the company will be able to feed 3,000 of its workers at one time.

The American Sheet and Tin Plate company has 22 cafeterias in daily operation in its different plants. It was one of the pioneers in the movement.

In the Munhall works cooked meats and vegetables are kept hot in steam tables, and served as the men desire, or as the various shifts reach their lunch or dinner hour. Pies, cakes and coffee, in fact many desserts of which the workmen seem very fond, are also available at all hours, as well as tea and milk. The men can thus buy hot meals for 25 to 35 cents.

"Our employees are delighted with the meals served in our plant," said a woman representative of the Westinghouse company who is in close contact with the work. "They get better food for less money than they get at home, and they get it when they need it. We lose money by the arrangement, because we provide food at actual cost and give away the coffee, tea and milk. But it pays in the long run, for it satisfies everybody."

These workers' dining rooms, it was explained by one company superintendent, must not be confused with the dining rooms, which have long been in service for office forces and officials of manufacturing concerns.

Swift & Company's 1919 Earnings

How They Affected You

During the twelve months ended November 1, 1919, (its fiscal year), Swift & Company transacted its large volume of business on the smallest margin of profit in its history.

Sales over $1,200,000,000.00

Net earnings $13,870,181.34

Our shipments were in excess of 5,500,000,000 lbs.

This means that our earnings were less than 1½ cents on each dollar of sales, or a quarter of a cent on each pound shipped.

Consumer—

The average consumer eats about ½ lb. of meat per day—180 lbs per year. If he purchased only Swift & Company products he would have contributed only 45 cents (180 lbs. @ ¼ cent a pound)—a year profit to Swift & Company for its investment and service, less than one cent per week.

Our earnings were so small as to have practically no effect on the family meat bill.

Live Stock Raiser—

Swift & Company handled in 1919 over 16,000,000 head of live stock. You can figure for yourself that our earnings of 1½ cents on each dollar of sales are too small to affect the price you received for your stock.

We paid all it was humanly possible to pay considering what the meat and by-products could be sold for.

GERMAN GOVT. WIDENS CONTROL OVER BANKS

London, Jan. 20. (AP)—A wireless dispatch from Berlin says the government has issued a regulation increasing the control of the banks to prevent the transfer of German capital to foreign countries. One clause important to foreigners, says that Mark credits of firms and persons residing abroad will only be given with the consent of the Reichsbank.

AMERICA TO HAVE NO PART IN TRIAL OF THE KASIER IT APPEARS

Washington, Jan. 20. (AP)—As the German peace treaty is not yet operative so far as America is concerned, the United States, it was stated officially today, has not joined in the demand upon Holland for the extradition of the former Kaiser, nor can it do so even if it so desired.
As head of the commission on responsibilities of the peace conference, Secretary Lansing took the ground that there was no law under which the former emperor could be brought to trial and punished. In its final action upon the treaty, however, the conference designated the Kaiser's acts as in violation of international morality and provided for his indictment and trial by his accusers. Accepting the view that this proposes a political and not a criminal trial, the American commissioners signed the treaty. Therefore, the official view is that while the United States may not now participate in the effort to extradite and try the former Kaiser because of non-action by the senate upon the treaty, it is possible that if the document is finally ratified as it stands American may have a member upon the court which will conduct the trial as required by the treaty.

MRS. CURTIS APPEALS TO TEXAS WOMEN TO QUALIFY FOR VOTING BEFORE FEB. 1.

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 20.—An appeal from her sickbed has been issued by Mrs. Nannie Webb Curtis, president of the Texas Woman's Christian Temperance Union, to the women of Texas to pay their poll tax without delay that they may have a voice in the coming primary elections. She urges the women to ask no questions but to "get that receipt and when the time comes you can vote all right." Mrs. Curtis' communication follows:
"To the Women of Texas:—My Dear Women: Never perhaps in our whole history has there been such a combination of forces at work in our state politically, morally and financially. This letter comes to you from my sickbed in the sanitarium and but for the urgency of the case would never have been written. I may live to see the primaries over and I may not, but dear friends, we must put forth every effort in our power, or lose much or all that we have gained in a long hard struggle.
"If Texas is saved from the despoiling power of the rum fiend and his allies the ballots of women must be added to those of good men to do it. You have never failed me when I have called upon you and I do not believe you will do it now. Get up, put on your hat, go to the courthouse and pay your poll tax. If in a city of ten thousand or more you will have to go in person to the courthouse or to the place authorized by the attorney general. If in a place under 10,000 you can pay any authorized agent, but, if possible, in each instance go to the courthouse and attend to it yourself. Don't ask a question about whether you will get to use your receipt or get to vote, but go get that receipt and when the time comes you can vote alright.
Pay your poll tax. Get your friends to do the same, and do it now."

ENGLISH ARSENAL TURNS FROM WAR ENGINES TO THE MAKING OF CHURNS AND CARS.

London, Jan. 20.—Even the great Woolwich arsenal has turned from the manufacture of war material to the peaceful pursuits of trade. Ten thousand butter churns have been manufactured in the great building which during the war sent out vast quantities of munitions for use against the Germans.

The nickel purchased to manufacture bullets is being used in the arsenal to make five-cent pieces for British Honduras currency. There is a world of shortage of locomotives and railway cars. To meet this it was decided to manufacture these articles in the arsenal and work already is underway there on orders for 2,500 cars, 100 locomotives and for repair work on 700 cars.
This serves a double purpose.
Thirty thousand persons now are employed in the arsenal where 110,000 were at work in wartime. Thousands of these men are skilled munition workers. By keeping these busy making locomotives and other peaceful products, the government not only gives them work but retains their services. In event of another war they could return immediately to the munition works in which they are skilled.

One of the side line products of the arsenal, since the armistice has been the striking of 6,000,000 war medals.

Children's Colds.

Every parent can add to the health of the community and his or her peace of mind by guarding against coughs and colds. When your child has snuffles or watery eyes don't hesitate to take him from school for a day or two so that you may break up the cold he contracted. You are perfectly safe in giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to your children as it contains no opium or other narcotic. It acts on nature's plan, loosens the cough, aids expectora-tion, relieves the lungs and opens the secretions, helping the system to throw off the cold.
